

FUNCIONAL MAP FOR THE OPHTHALMIC NURSE

ELEMENTS OF COMPETENCE

UNIT OF COMPETENCE

KEY PURPOSE

Provide specialized care to the person and family in the prevention and treatment of eye diseases, respecting their interculturality, applying theories, models of nursing and current regulations, integrating management, teaching and research.

1.1. Perform specialized care for the person and family at risk of developing ocular pathology according to the National Eye Health Strategy

1.1.1. Assess and diagnose the risk of visual alterations in the person and family, according to age group and current regulations.

1.1.2. Perform counseling in the person and family in prevention and promotion of eye health according to current regulations

1.1.3 Refer the patient with visual alterations according to current regulations.

1.2 Provide specialized care to the person with non-surgical ocular pathology, according to procedural guidelines and institutional interventions and current regulations.

1.2.1. Assess and diagnose in the person with non-surgical ocular pathology, human responses according to Nursing models and / or institutional norms.

1.2.2. Execute specialized care in the person with non-surgical ocular pathology, according to criteria established in the care plan according to intervention guidelines and / or procedures.

1.2.3. Evaluate and perform counseling in the person with non-surgical ocular pathology, according to the results criteria set out in the care plan according to intervention guidelines and / or procedures.

1.3. Carry out specialized care for the person with surgical eye pathology according to nursing procedures guidelines and current regulations

1.3.1. To assess and diagnose in a holistic way the person with surgical ocular pathology in the preoperative period and register according to regulations

1.3.2. Perform the instrumentation of eye surgeries according to procedural guidelines and according to type of surgery.

1.3.3. Evaluate and report the status of the person with postoperative ocular pathology and perform counseling to the family according to type of surgery and current regulations